Introduction to Body, Movement, and Strength Training	V, VI	Whether this will be your first time or not, the Introduction to Body, Movement, and Weight Training program is a middle school winter season athletic offering where students can learn how to properly and appropriately train their body and physical movements by engaging in a variety of activities and exercises (e.g running, agility, plyometrics, yoga, spin bikes, stretching, weight room). The students are introduced to the basics of a weight room, the purpose of each piece of equipment, and fundamental skills and techniques.
